Writing B

Dear Rob!

Good afternoon! How are you? What are you doing now? Yes, I took and read your email. Sorry, I was busy and I haven't got any spare time to answer you. I hope you will understand me.

Yes, that's right. Now I live in a different town. To be honest, it's a little bit difficult for me because I don't have any friends here and I just can't ask somebody if I need a help. Yesterday was my first day in the new school. Honestly, I felt sad and confused. There are a lot of intelligent students who came here to learn new useful things. My new teacher is funny. She told me "Don't worry! It's OK! Everything will be great!" You know, I'm mad about when people help me and I also always up for to help them. We must be kind to each other.

My new town is very modern. There are many different new buildings. When I saw it at first, I was shocked because in my old town there aren't high and very large buildings like here.

Having said that, I'd like to say for you that you needn't worry about me. I suppose I need more time and everything will be well. By the way, Rob, my parents told me that we will go to my old town next week. I thought if you don't busy, can we meet and go for a walk? I'm sure that we will have a great time. Furthermore, I miss you! OK, text me when you will free. See you!

Bye-Bye!

Tamiris
